

DAHOVER IS QUIZZED IN SLAYING OF CONN

EXTRA SESSION, TO OPEN NOV. 15, CALLED BY F.D.R. Roosevelt Outlines Plan To Enact Sidetracked Program

FIVE PRINCIPAL PLANS REVIEWED Asserts "Immediate Prosperity" Object of Legislation

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—President Roosevelt, ordering a special session of congress November 15, instituted a campaign today to enact by Christmas, if possible, the bulk of his legislative program sidetracked in the last session.

Administration officials expressed hope for swift congressional approval of five measures outlined by the chief executive last night in his tenth "fireside chat."

1. Crop production control to "build an all-weather farm program so that in the long run prices will be more stable."

2. Wage and hour standards to "make millions of our lowest-paid workers actual buyers of billions of dollars of industrial and farm products."

3. Regional planning to conserve natural resources, prevent floods and produce electric power for general use.

4. Government reorganization to provide "twentieth century machinery" to make the "Democratic process work more efficiently."

5. Stronger anti-trust laws in furtherance of a "low price policy which encourages the widest possible consumption."

Controversy Seen The proposals foreshadowed bitter and perhaps prolonged controversy. The first four were left over from the session which ended in August, but the anti-monopoly recommendation was new.

Mr. Roosevelt characterized the program as one which the American people need immediately to provide prosperity.

"The kind of prosperity we want," he said, "is the sound and permanent kind which is not built up temporarily at the expense of any section or group."

Understanding Is Keynote To Labor Peace, Rotary Told

Complete understanding between employer and employee will provide the only solution to the problem of labor relations, in the opinion of Judge W. P. Barnum of Youngstown, expressed during a talk before the Rotary club Tuesday at the Memorial building.

Author of Earhart Hoax Found Insane

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Wilbur Rothar, 42, former seaman and Bronx tenement janitor who was indicted for attempting to extort $2,000 from George Palmer Putnam, the publisher, under the pretense that he knew where Amelia Earhart Putnam could be found alive, was committed to Matteawan State hospital for the criminal insane today.

ADAMS TO HEAD BANKERS GROUP Salt Lake City Man Selected President of Association

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Orval W. Adams, 53, Salt Lake City banker, whose entire banking career has been spent in Utah, today was elected president of the American Bankers association at its 63d annual convention. He succeeds Tom K. Smith, of St. Louis.

Philip A. Benson of Brooklyn, N. Y., was elected first vice-president and Robert M. Hanes of Winston-Salem, N. C., was named second vice president.

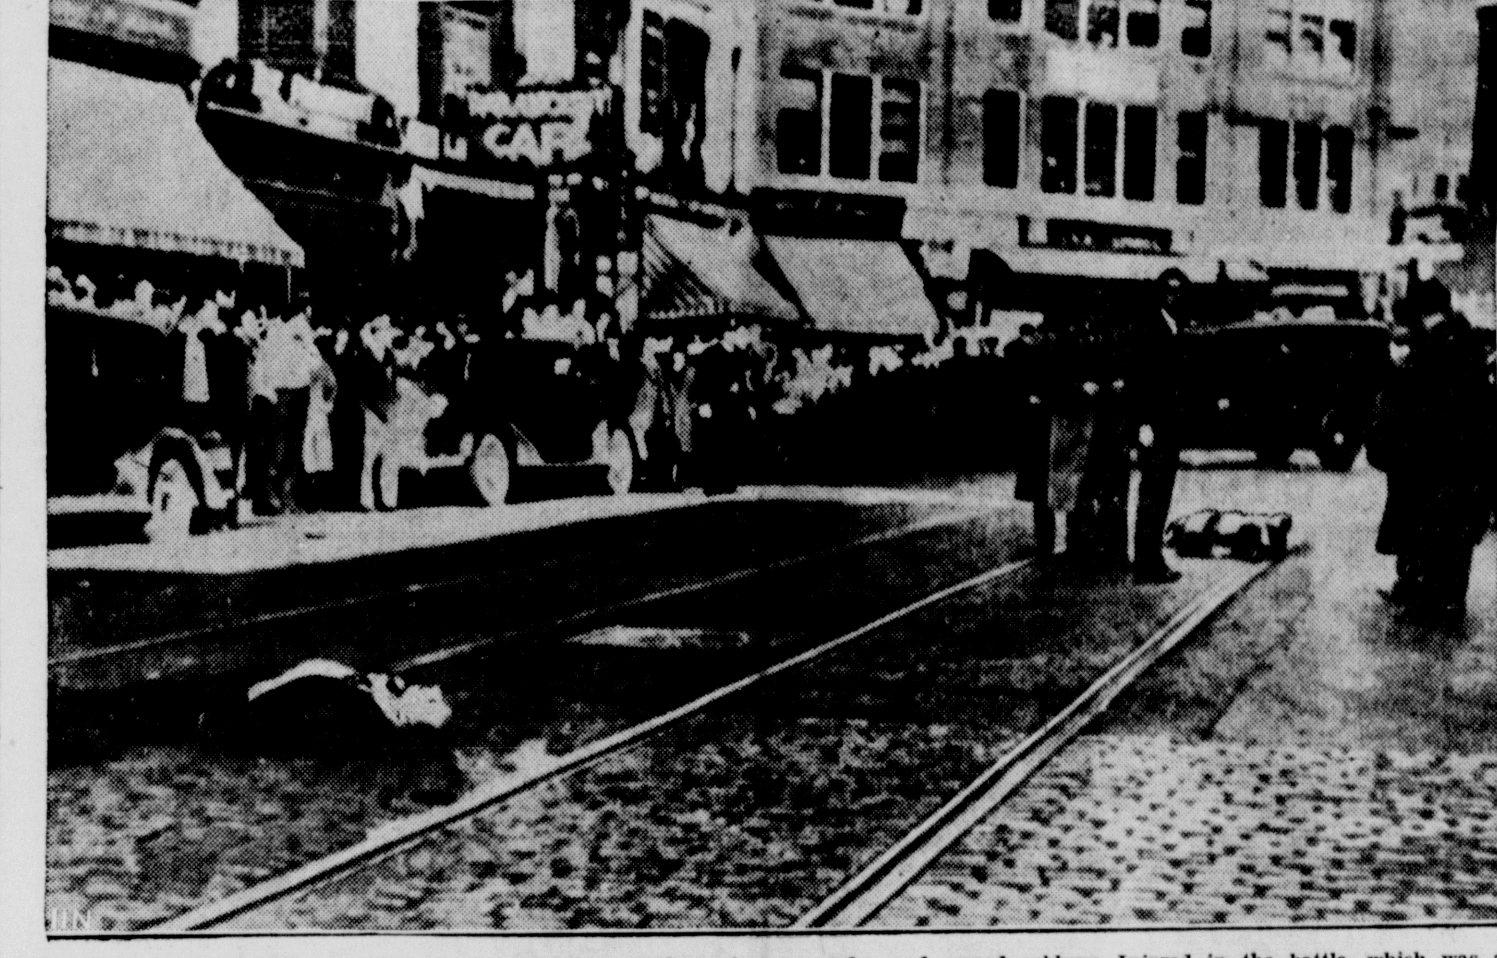

There was no opposition to the report of the nominating committee. Adams is executive vice president of the Utah State National Bank. For the last year he has been first vice-president of the association.

The new first vice president is president and trustee of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn. He is a native of New York City and became associated with his bank in 1917. He is a former president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

Hanes is president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust company of Winston-Salem and is a native of that city. He is a past president of the North Carolina Bankers association.

Adams and Benson are Republicans. Hanes is a Democrat.

Notorious Brady Gang Is Wiped Out In Maine by G-Men Attack

Al Brady, leader of a notorious band of Indiana outlaws, is shown in the above picture with his pal, Clarence Shaffer, after they were slain in streets of Bangor, Me., by withering G-man fire. Brady, in the foreground, was wanted by police of a dozen states for murder and armed robbery. Injured in the battle, which was as brief as it was decisive, were G-Man Walter Walsh, 28, of Washington, D. C. and James Dalhove, a Brady gangster, who was immediately captured.

SEEK PLACES IN NAVAL ACADEMY

Two Salem Youths Listed For Preliminary Examinations For Annapolis Berths

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Ohio today announced the following youths are among those taking the preliminary examination for Annapolis Nov. 6 in competing for two appointments at his disposal in 1938:

James Kenneth Leipper, 752 E. Fourth st., and George Gibson, both of Salem.

Leipper will take the examination at Columbus and Gibson at Washington.

There are 81 applicants for the two vacancies at the United States Naval Academy and from those successful in the preliminary examinations he will select eight youths, two principals and six alternates, who will be permitted to qualify for entrance. One principal and three alternates are named for each appointment, the alternates being given an opportunity to qualify for the appointment should the principal fail.

The examination Nov. 6 is held by the Civil Service Commission.

Travel Pictures Entertain Quota

Colored moving pictures of Mexico and Bermuda, shown by Dr. Paul Bennett of Alliance, entertained members of the Quota club at their dinner meeting last night in the Memorial building.

The pictures were taken by Dr. and Mrs. Bennett on recent trips to Mexico and Bermuda. Miss Iva Hoopes introduced Dr. Bennett, who told interesting details of the trips and gave descriptions of the places shown.

HEALTH LEAGUE TO SELL SEALS

Yule Campaign plans Outlined at Meeting Here; Clinic Arranged

Salem Public Health league met last night in the Memorial building to discuss plans for the annual sale of Christmas seals.

Delmar Seraphy of East Liverpool, executive secretary of the county league, presided.

Mrs. John Sharp was appointed chairman of the seal sale here. Headquarters for the seal sale will be established in a number of public places several weeks before the holidays.

A chest clinic will be held for adults only next Tuesday at Salem City hospital. Thirty-five patients will receive examinations, which will be in charge of Dr. E. E. Kirkwood, head of the Mahoning county tuberculosis sanatorium.

Hears County Was Looking For Him; Gives Himself Up

LISON, Oct. 13.—Frank Geisse of Wellsville, secretly indicted on three counts by the September grand jury during its probe of gambling activities, gave himself up at the courthouse here this morning.

Geisse, indicted as a common gambler, charged with operating a lottery and conducting a gambling room, told court officials, "I understand you're looking for me."

The Wellsville man probably will be arraigned later on the gambling charges. Already eight persons have been arrested at East Liverpool and arraigned on various gambling counts.

Attorney Peters Not Candidate for Solicitor's Post

Attorney W. Edmund Peters today urged voters not to write his name in on the ballots for city solicitor at the Nov. 2 election.

Peters' announcement was based on reports that some of his friends had started a campaign to write in his name.

"I am taking this opportunity of publicly stating," Peters said, "that, although I deeply appreciate the interest my friends have displayed in my behalf, I am not a candidate for the office of city solicitor and I respectfully request that my name not be written in on the ballots at the coming election."

COLUMBUS DAY OBSERVED HERE

Salem Knights of Columbus Sponsor Card Party and Dance; Annual Program Planned

Salem council No. 1818, Knights of Columbus, was sponsor of a dance and card party last evening in the lodge hall, South Broadway, in observance of Columbus day.

An attendance of 300 was reported, with many guests from neighboring cities present. A door prize was awarded to Miss Ann Koppa.

The dance at 9 p. m. featured music by the Culberson string quartet.

LAUNCH TWO-DAY CHURCH EVENT

Christian Congregation Holds Its Fourth Annual Fair

The fourth annual Christian church fair, sponsored this year by the Sunday school to procure funds for repairs in the primary rooms of the church school, opened today at the church.

The fair is open at all times to the public. Noon and evening meals will be served in the church dining hall by ladies of the congregation.

Entertainment in the evenings will include programs by the Junior choir and Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite; drills by the primary department youngsters; reading, Joan Zimmerman; songs, Gene and Glenn Weingart; dialogue, Richard Butler and Billy Stratton.

In addition to the entertainment mentioned, a special feature tonight, for which a small admission fee will be charged, will be a program by students of the Allen Institute of Music in Alliance.

Thursday evening an added attraction will be a play by members of the Salemasquers, Salem High school dramatics club.

Mrs. Fred Rogers is general chairman of committees in charge of the fair.

Roadside Parks For Tourists Planned

The state highway department announced here today plans for the establishment of four roadside parks for tourists.

Work already is nearing completion on the first park, located on the Lincoln highway, near West Point.

The others will be situated on Route 14, near Pine Lake, east of Columbiana; on Route 79 on the Salineville-Wellsville road, and on Route 7, near Williamsport.

The camps, each comprising one and one-half acres of ground, will be enclosed by a fence. Each park will have two under-cover ovens for outdoor cooking and will be provided with tested water wells.

LISTS DEATH OF OHIOAN IN MOB CRIMES

Bangor Police Captain Says Wounded Survivor of Federal Men's Ambush Admitted Gang Killed Three Policemen

GROCERY CLERK ALSO NAMED

Bullet-Creased Mobster, Shaky After All-Night Grilling, Tells Police Brady Wasn't Going To "Do Anything" In Maine

(By Associated Press) BANGOR, Me., Oct. 13.—Captain Frank Foley of the Bangor police said today James Dalhove, wounded survivor of the G-Men's ambush of the dread Al Brady gang, had confessed the band had slain three policemen.

Captain Foley said he heard the sulky prisoner, during an all-night questioning, admit to federal agents the gang had killed Richard Rivers, an Indianapolis police sergeant; Paul Minneman, an Indiana state trooper, and at Freeport, Ohio, an Ohio highway policeman named George Conn.

Dalhove, his skull creased by a bullet, surrendered after a squad of federal sleuths shot and killed Al Brady, John Dillinger "successor," and the gang's youthful "triggerman," Clarence Lee Shaffer, 21, yesterday in a dramatic 5-minute gun battle on a Bangor street.

Foley said the captured gunman also accused Brady of "knocking off" a grocery clerk but said he did not know the victim's name or where the slaying occurred. G-Men, however, have charged the gang with the death of Edward Lindsay, a Piqua, O., grocery clerk.

"I guess he's given them (the federal agents) a pretty complete story of the gang's movements since they broke out of jail a year ago," Foley said after the night-long examination in the farmboy-gunman's cell.

Foley said Dalhove, whose entry into a Bangor sports goods store sprang the federal trap, appeared shaken by the lengthy questioning and the effects of his wound.

BLACK TO QUIZ GANG SURVIVOR

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of Ohio's highway patrol, prepared today to go to Indianapolis to await the return of James Dalhove, only survivor of the G-men's Bangor, Me., ambush of the Al Brady gang.

Black said he wanted to obtain definite confirmation of Bangor Police Capt. Frank Foley's report that Dalhove had implicated Brady gang members in the slaying of Ohio Highway Patrolman George Conn near Freeport, O., Sept. 27.

The patrol superintendent declared that information he obtained from Indiana state police was that Dalhove had confessed participation only in the slaying of Indiana State Policeman Paul Minneman.

Black pointed out that Dalhove might have implicated the other gang members in the slayings of Conn and Indianapolis Police Sgt. Richard Rivers, while denying that he (Dalhove) participated in the killings.

"I'm up in the air about the whole thing," Black said. "I want to know for sure whether they've got the Conn slaying solved and I'm going to Indianapolis to talk to Dalhove myself."

Black said he had been unsuccessful in attempts to contact federal agents at Bangor to determine definitely if and when Dalhove will be taken to Indianapolis.

Girl Navy Aspirant Objects to 'Exams'

DAYTON, Oct. 13.—Goldie Johnson, 19, pretty and blonde, decided today that Brother Herbert could alone represent the Johnson family in Uncle Sam's navy.

Appearing before Quartermaster J. F. Donnellan, U. S. Navy recruiter, Goldie insisted she wanted to join the navy.

"Well," stuttered the abashed sailor, "the navy doesn't enlist girls, and wouldn't you be embarrassed among all those men?" But Goldie shook her curls and retorted:

"Men don't bother me a bit." Goldie changed her mind when Donnellan recovered to say:

"I'd have to give you a physical examination right now." Herbert has been in the navy eight years.

$25,000 Damage Case Is Filed In Lisbon

LISEON, Oct. 13.—A jury was being selected here today to hear the civil suit of Vivian Custer of R. D. 3, Lisbon, against W. B. Law of rural Lisbon, for $25,000 personal injury damages.

The plaintiff asks the damages as the result of serious injuries received in a traffic accident at Elkton, July 10, 1935. She claims she was hurt while riding in a coupe with Blondie Law, who was killed in the accident.

The suit was filed originally Dec. 5, 1935.

WORTHY OPPONENT

Ogden Mills, his political fate now sealed forever by untimely death, had turned all his energy during the last few years to a fight against what he thoroughly believed were the irreconcilable objectives of the New Deal. "We can have a free country or a socialistic one," he said. "We cannot have both. Our economic system cannot be half free and half socialistic."

When congressmen still were approving New Deal bills without reading them, Mr. Mills was warning against abdication of democratic rights. "Individual liberty as we have understood it," he warned, "cannot hope to survive the transformation of a government of strictly limited authority into one of unlimited power over the life of the individual citizen."

He had spent a third of a century in politics, reaching a climax when he ran the U. S. treasury, during and after Andrew Mellon's secretaryship. He was about as close to a political career man as this country can boast. He served the public because he enjoyed it, not because he needed a job. A brilliant thinker and a persuasive speaker and writer, he believed it was his duty to explain his principles, even when they were out of style.

He was a worthy opponent because he used facts, not prejudices, as his weapons. He thought new dealers were in error, but he never impugned their motives. He was sure the results of their policies would be bad, but he never implied that the personalities responsible for them were not earnest and honest. The death of such a man is a direct loss to both major parties, for they had equal need of his clear vision. What higher tribute could be paid to a modern American than the following sentences, explaining what Ogden Mills believed was the only way to cure unemployment—increased production. He said:

"The way to increase production is to stimulate buying by giving the consumer the benefit of lower prices for finished products, and simultaneously to create conditions which will invite the flow of capital into producers' goods or heavy industries, thus increasing current purchasing power by transforming savings into wages."

Sensible new era evangelists now admit reluctantly that men like Ogden Mills are guilty of no worse sin than realism. Yet, when Mr. Mills began to argue with them, they were insisting that government should restrict production, raise costs and prices and hamper the flow of capital by destroying confidence in the capitalist system. Whether the Ogden Mills of the country or the force of circumstances caused them to change their minds, credit is due the handful of independent men who insisted on thinking straight when it was the fashion to have visions. Mr. Mills was one of the first to say what he thought and certainly one of the ablest.

ON THE WING

Unless more than a hundred million Americans are wrong, in 25 more years hundreds of thousands of them will own an airplane, along with one or more automobiles.

But, if a hundred million Americans aren't going to be wrong, that airplane will have to be turned out in mass production. One airplane manufacturer, pioneering in low cost machines for the general public, already has anticipated the future by announcing a brand new model for 1938. As automobile manufacturers do, furthermore, he's bringing out his new model now, to ward off a seasonal slump. Chances are that this nation's millions of potential birdmen, waiting for that simply operated, fool proof, low cost plane of their dreams never thought about having to decide each year whether to make the old crate last till the next new model came out or to trade it in now and start another year or year and a half of easy payments. Yet, if experience means anything, that's how the world will take to the air—the same way it took to the highway—deferred payments and the lure of a shiny new triumph once each year to keep the production lines moving.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, October 14

A particularly lively and eventful lay is presaged from the prevailing planetary influences. All pertaining to writings, contracts, publicity and promotion is under stimulation, and good news or new contracts may make sudden changes, removals or journeys necessary. Be wise in this and be wary of strangers. There may be anxious family reactions.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is will find themselves facing a lively and eventful year, in which hasty news may bring change, removal or travel, and will also renew lagging interest. Be careful in dealing with strangers and untried conditions. Appense the family in its disturbances.

A child born on this day may be versatile, brilliant and energetic, although erratic and restless. It may have speculative, sporting and roaming tendencies that may be reflected in a lively pen as a press correspondent.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—New York, after a year or so of dowdiness, is showing an inclination to go completely white tie and tails this fall and winter. Evening clothes or the full dress suit for men were becoming about as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth. The only dressers of this sort seemed to be the monocled boys from the other side or Clifton Webb who is always pushed up to the quick. Hostesses were complaining of certain dinner jackets, but in ordinary business suits.

The great objection to full evening dress has always been that it chiefly becomes only those of slender girth. No adornment so accentuates excess flesh. Indeed, one tailor of distinction said privately he knew only a half dozen public figures suited for such habiliments.

He included Bainbridge Colby, Owen Young, Jack Buchanan and Adolphe Menjou. The full dress suit was the sartorial abomination of Mark Twain. He got so he would go nowhere it was required. Finally he compromised on white flannels and thereby touched off a vogue.

To my notion the sprightliest fellow I ever saw in full dress was the Hollywood film actor, Francis Lederer, in his role in "The Wonder Bar" in Berlin five or six years ago. Later I saw him at Watterson Rothacker's ranch in California and he might have been a Ted Healey, so slipshod was he. Another shark at wearing evening clothes gracefully before he began to plump up was the dancing man, Pepy de Albreu.

Valentino, as Handsome a figure as he was, did not wear evening clothes well and hated such attire, he once told me. He was at his Brummelish best in a business suit with a dark colored shirt with collar to match and those deep purple ties which he affected. Just as Aubrey Eads makes an art of the flounce to his breast pocket handkerchief, so did Valentino give a perk to the loop in his four-in-hand that was the envy of the better dressed. Many tried the same effect, but only Valentino achieved that finical something.

There is a specious belief that all literary men, from poets to writers of best sellers, are sartorially slipshod. Yet the records disprove from Shakespeare and Victor Hugo through the ages. London still talks of the nattiness of Michael Arlen when he burst on the literary scene. Isaac Marcossion is a fashion plate and one of the few Americans who almost invariably dresses for dinner nightly. Somerset Maugham's tweedy getups have long been the talk of the French Riviera. Charles G. Norris, on occasions, is a bang-up dude and few men past 60 have the sleekness of E. Phillips Oppenheim. The list also includes Louis Bromfield, Joe Bryan III, Corey Ford, Lucius Beebe and Joseph Hergeshelm.

There are experts who say the best dressed man on stage screen or along the public highways is Tullio Carminati. He is also so regarded by the style experts of London and Rome.

There seems some merit to the charge of careless dressing among the poets. A possible exception is Ogden Nash, genial descendant of the upper crust, whose ancestors founded Nashville, Tenn. Berton Braley clings to a venerable slouch hat. Witter Bynner doesn't give a fig for style. Arthur Guiterman is no Adolphe Menjou. And so it goes down the list. Most poets are what might be called comfortable dressers.

Duding usually goes in spurts. Men who reach ripe years generally have three periods of intensive sprucing up fever. The first is between the ages of 18 and 24 and indulges all the exaggerations of the time. Then a lapse. It is revived again around what some are disposed to call the Dangerous Age—the early 40's. And when one reaches 60 there seems to be the final sartorial fling. The victims are those boys who appear in the night clubs and in a short while are wearing one of those fool paper caps and gesturing a giggling cutie on each knee. So far as I know, Chauncey Depew was the only stylish dresser without a let-down. He continued his sartorial elegance to his 90th birthday.

FLAT FEET

NOT SO long ago I told you how important it is to take care of the feet. It was pointed out that in a recent survey more than 65 per cent of schoolboys and 85 per cent of schoolgirls were found to be victims of foot disorders.

We frequently hear it said, "My feet ache so I don't know what to do." This is a common complaint of those who are obliged to stand for long periods and particularly of those who have flat feet. Let me tell you something about this defect. Since flat feet do not always cause pain, the condition is usually overlooked. Unfortunately, if the weakness progresses, there is trouble. The sufferer notices that when he puts full weight on the feet in standing or walking, disabling pain occurs. If the foot pain is relieved by sitting down or resting, you can be sure it is due to flat feet.

Dr. Copeland

Weight Is a Factor

The human foot has two arches of bone and muscle, one arch runs lengthwise of the foot and the other across it. When the weight of the body rests on the foot, the arches are somewhat flattened. If the weight is excessive, the tissue or muscles of the foot are unduly stretched. Weakening of the arches causes the flatness to become permanent.

It will be seen that excessive body weight is a factor that may ultimately lead to weakness and flattening of the arches. In other instances, weakness or breakdown of the arches occur as a result of prolonged standing.

All of the students of the subject agree that if flat feet are to be prevented, it is necessary to check on all children's feet. Since 10 years must pass before the foot and arches are fully developed, it is obvious that the best time for promoting foot health is during childhood. Care given at this time will determine the future foot health.

Corrective Exercises

A child who presents signs of weakened arches should be instructed in the daily use of certain corrective exercises. These should be carried on during childhood when the bones are soft and the arches not completely molded.

In addition to special exercises, it is well that the child wear shoes carefully fitted to the feet. Wearing pointed shoes, tight shoes, or improperly-fitted shoes is a shortcut to weak feet and other disagreeable disturbances of the feet. Short stockings are almost as bad. The shoe should be firm in the arch and have a sensible heel. The sole should not be cut too narrow and there should be ample room in the width for free movement of the toes. In some instances an arch support is recommended, but this should only be decided by an expert.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat

Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, spicy or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or have indigestion, your stomach pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour sick and upset all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Ball's for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, reduce acidity in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and safe. The Ball's for Indigestion is sold everywhere. (c) Ball & Co. 1937.

"THE SILVER ROOD MYSTERY"

by Lewis Allen Browne

CHAPTER XVI

Sergeant Harper decided to drive to Kingsbury and make an investigation—find out all he could about Howard Griswold, and search his room.

"Go to it," I said. "I'm going to have a talk with Mary and, if the morin woman goes out tonight, I shall search her room."

"Mary won't help you, Harley," Foxcroft said, seriously. "I mean, Foxcroft said, seriously. 'I mean, you don't think she was in with Griswold on this crime, I hope.'"

"I don't want to think that," was as far as I would comment on it. Sergeant Harper and Foxcroft left—Harper for Kingsbury and Foxcroft for Meadowville. I went and found Mary.

"Do you think that Griswold might have done this?" I asked. "Mr. Stevenson! It is horrible of you to even suggest it. I won't talk with her arm."

"What is there now to talk about? I have told you all I know," I told her a few things that "not true."

"Yes—but I told the truth later. I didn't want you to mix Howard up in this. The notoriety might cause him to lose his position at the college. It was so unfortunate that we had made an appointment to see each other that afternoon."

"I am afraid I have to talk about Griswold."

"I won't listen. You mustn't involve him. It is terrible to even hint that he could do such a thing."

"It will be better for Griswold if you do listen, and help us. He was in this house on that afternoon."

Mary's eyes rounded with amazement, then darkened with doubt and anger.

"He was not. You are saying that to poison my mind against him. He was on the grounds, yes. He couldn't go in the house. He has been on the grounds. Uncle Gerry forbade him to see me again, or to come on the grounds."

"He was seen leaving the house, that afternoon, Mary."

"Someone is mistaken, or telling a lie to cover up or shield someone. I would be suspicious of who ever told that lie, Mr. Stevenson."

"The one who saw him certainly was not beyond the servant's quarters that day. She saw him from the grounds."

"All of the servants leave their quarters to do their work."

"This was a former servant."

"A former servant?" Mary tried to think. "Hutton, who left to get married and put Morin in her place?"

"No. I don't mind telling you, it was Elizabeth Briggs."

"Briggs! Why should she be here? I had to discharge her. She would lie, do anything, probably, for revenge."

"She wouldn't lie—at least to Mr. Morin. You discharged her because she told the truth about your missing Griswold. Isn't that true?"

"I expect my personal made to be faithful to me, and my inter-ready by the time you get this, so don't waste any time. You tell that party what's what and where he gets off. I'll be down in a couple of days. W.

There was nothing else in Nola Morin's room that could create the slightest suspicion, but that mysterious note from "W" was an important find. I was convinced. I copied it and replaced it. It would have been a blunder to have taken it, and aroused her suspicions.

Morin admitted that she went out on the library porch on the afternoon of the murder. Mr. Monteth, she told us, was sleeping. Her excuse had seemed flimsy to me—her assertion that she had gone to try and wheedle him into giving her more money—higher wages. Servants in such wealthy families never did that. The housekeeper managed such matters. However, Morin admitted that her experience as a maid was slight and that she had been on the stage. Perhaps she did not know how out-of-place it was for her to plan to go to Mr. Monteth.

Those were our deductions up to this time.

But now I was convinced that the handsome Nola Morin lied to us. She had gone out to see Mr. Monteth for some other purpose. To tell him, as the note advised, "What's what" and where he "gets off."

Now, was Monteth asleep, as she said? Did she start to tell him what was what? Did Monteth refuse something or other, and did Nola Morin kill him?

It didn't seem probable. How could a new up-stairs maid know anything about that deadly knife disguised as a silver rood?

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE...

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! Two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk, and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up!" Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

There were two letters from showgirl friends, I judged, who were on the road. Another letter, postmarked in New York at the main postoffice, added another puzzling angle to the situation. It was merely a note, and read:

Dear N—I'll have everything

when you've found a way to ease the pains of RHEUMATISM and do it the inexpensive way, too.

You can pay as high as you want for remedies claimed to relieve the pain of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, etc. But the medicine so many doctors generally approve—the one used by thousands of families daily—is Bayer Aspirin—15¢ a dozen tablets—about 1¢ apiece.

Simply take 2 Bayer Aspirin tablets with a half glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions.

Usually this will ease such pain in a remarkably short time.

For quick relief from such pain which exhausts you and keeps you awake at night—ask for genuine Bayer Aspirin.

Lose Bad Breath—Keep Your Friends

In spite of all that has been written about bad breath, thousands still lose friends through this unpleasant fault. Yet sour stomach with its resultant bad breath is frequently only the result of constipation. Just as it can also cause loss of appetite, early weakness, nervousness, mental dullness.

So keep regular. And if you need to assist Nature, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This gentle laxative can help bring relief. Extremely important, too, is the mild stimulation it gives the flow of bile from the liver, without the discomfort of drastic, irritating drugs. That's why millions are sold yearly. All druggists, 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

Year's Work Is Outlined As Musical Arts Club Meets

Musical Arts club held the first meeting of the year last evening at the home of Miss Doris Tetlow, president, on the Ellsworth rd.

Vice president is Miss Margaret Kirkbride; secretary, Homer Taylor; treasurer, Harold Harman. Miss Margaret Megrall is program chairman for the year, and was in charge of the program which followed the business session.

Study this year will be on grand opera and musical comedies. A review of the opera, "Sampson and Delilah," by St. Saens, was given by Miss Mary Campbell. Miss Tetlow's vocal solo was "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Sampson and Delilah."

Miss Margaret Kirkbride played two piano selections, "The Swan" and "Romance Sans Parole," by St. Saens. "The Living God," by Hara, and "Duna," by MacGill, were vocal numbers given by Floyd Craig. Miss Kirkbride played the accompaniment for Miss Tetlow and Mr. Craig.

On Oct. 26 the club will meet at the home of Miss Mary Ruth Allen, Jennings ave.

"Mecca and Beyond"

Martha Lang missionary society, meeting in the Baptist church last evening, opened the year's foreign missionary study of the book, "Mecca and Beyond."

Mrs. Frank Brudery, program chairman, prefaced the chapter readings with an explanation of the material in the book.

"The Moslem and His World" was read from the study manual by Mrs. John Cosgrove and the next chapter, "The Island of the Arab," was given by Mrs. Clarence Bailey.

An interesting article on "Indian Corn" describing the uses of the northern Arizona Hopi Indians make of the grain, was read by Mrs. Frank Grace.

Mrs. David Bevan, vice president, presided during the session in the absence of Mrs. George Peterson, who is president.

Musical entertainment included several vocal duets by Mrs. Richard White and Mrs. Grace.

A social hour and refreshments were enjoyed. Mrs. Brudery, Mrs. Richard Stirling and Mrs. Robert Talbot were hostesses.

Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Magrann, new pastor and wife, were guests.

Legion Auxiliary Installs

American Legion auxiliary installed Mrs. Harold Wyckoff, president, and other officers during a meeting last night in the Legion rooms.

The installation followed a covered dinner. Committees and chairmen were appointed for the year.

Plans were discussed for a play to be given in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Monday. The play, "Crazy Mike," and other features of entertainment will be given in the form of a broadcast.

The cast for the play and other entertainers are to be completed by the end of the week.

Funds from the performance will be used by the auxiliary in welfare and charity work.

Class Hears Talk On Russia

A talk by Dr. Harrington of McKees Rocks, Pa., on conditions in Russia, was a feature of the program which followed a covered dinner in the Methodist church for members of the Unity Bible class last night.

Dr. Harrington, who is visiting friends here, has spent some time in Russia, where he studied living conditions. His talk was based on his experiences and observations while there.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ketterer were named as door committee members and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Culp were appointed to the visiting committee.

The class will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Culp in Columbiana, Nov. 9.

Travelers Club Enjoys Program

Dr. C. L. Smith, speaking on the "Western Reserve," and W. H. Matthews, presenting a paper on "State Parks and Preserves," provided the program for the Travelers club meeting Tuesday afternoon in the library assembly room.

Dr. Smith spoke of the history and settlement of this region of Ohio, known at one time as the Western Reserve. Mr. Matthews read the paper on state parks, in behalf of Mrs. Matthews, who prepared it.

Hold Farewell For Norman Hovis

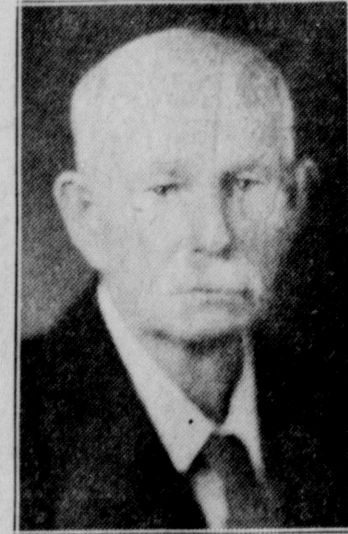

A farewell party for Norman Hovis, who will leave this week for Arizona to spend several months, was given recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Getz, Benton road.

An oyster supper was followed by square dancing.

Guests included Mrs. Bertha Hovis of Greenford; Mrs. Garrett Wiggers, Mr. and Mrs. Curley Wiggers, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wiggers, Donald Wiggers, all of Corry, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hoover, Arthur Hoover and Miss Mary Stalley of Youngstown; Mr. and Mrs. Paul King, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Getz and son Lester, and D. W. Koons of the Benton rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael DeLenn left Sunday for a week's vacation in Boston, Mass. They plan to visit relatives there during their trip.

Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James C. McConner

Mr. and Mrs. James C. McConner of the Franklin-Leetonia rd., will observe their golden wedding anniversary Thursday at the home of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McConner, 193 Fair ave.

The couple will hold open house at their son's home from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. to welcome friends and neighbors.

James C. McConner and Miss Mary Boyd were united in marriage at Washingtonville on Oct. 14, 1887. They set up housekeeping on the farm where Mr. McConner was born and have lived there since.

They have three children, Mrs. Edwin Smith, Carl B. McConner and Roscoe H., all of Salem. There are four grandchildren, Dean and Bernice Smith and Richard and Dorothy McConner.

Honor Bride-Elect At Shower

Miss Anne Skowran of the Damascus rd., who will become the bride of John Zines on Saturday, Oct. 16, was honored at a miscellaneous shower last evening at her home.

Hostesses who arranged the affair were Misses Mildred Freider and Mary Skowran. About 20 friends were entertained. Miss Skowran received many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Rene Kenneweg and daughter, Bettie Lee, have returned from Cleveland where they spent Sunday and Monday on business.

Members of a group activities committee were named as follows: Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Lowell Brown, Mrs. Michael Schuller and Mrs. Robert Phillips.

Mrs. McArdor showed moving pictures of children's activities following the program.

Mrs. Lester Lehman and Mrs. Galen Weaver were accepted as new members.

Mrs. Arthur Smith will entertain the group at her home on North Ellsworth ave., on Oct. 27.

Two book reviews concluded the program. Mrs. Ernest Horton reviewed "The Next Hundred Years" and Mrs. E. T. Trebilcock, "The Child."

"Heredity" Is Mothers' Circle Subject

"Environment and Heredity" was the topic for discussion at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Progressive Mothers circle of the Child Conservation League of America. Members met at the home of Mrs. Russell McArdor, East Fifth st.

Mrs. McArdor presented the study on environment and Mrs. Leo Wachsmith was in charge of the subject, "Heredity."

Members of the group activities committee were named as follows: Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Lowell Brown, Mrs. Michael Schuller and Mrs. Robert Phillips.

Mrs. McArdor showed moving pictures of children's activities following the program.

THEATER Attractions

Deanna Durbin, who rose to screen fame in "Three Smart Girls," will be starred in her second picture, Universal's "100 Men and a Girl," a comedy drama with music which will show Thursday through Saturday at the State theatre. Featured with Deanna Durbin is Leopold Stokowski, famous conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony.

Good Supporting Cast

An unusual cast surrounds Deanna. Adolphe Menjou is seen as her father, a musician who, with 100 fellow artists, seeks recognition of talent and a chance for a livelihood. Alice Brady portrays a society matron who promises Deanna to sponsor the orchestra. Then the rich woman flounces off to Europe and leaves Menjou and Deanna in the lurch.

Eugene Pallette, as Alice Brady's husband, has the situation placed squarely before him on his shiny mahogany desk by Deanna Durbin. Her eloquent statement of the 100 men's dilemma causes him to agree to sponsor the orchestra, providing Stokowski will conduct it.

Nothing daunted, Deanna goes to Stokowski. She charms him first with her singing. He agrees to hear the orchestra and finds they are excellent musicians. Then the story sweeps to its climax, carrying human drama, delightful comedy and memorable music to a rhythmic crest. Stokowski has devised a new method of recording music, which gives the effect of sound in perspective.

Youth's Revolt

Modern youth's revolt against the conventions of the older generations, and something of the problem created in a typical American household when three generations are forced to live together, form the plot of "Make Way for Tomorrow," the screenplay by Vina Delmar which concludes at the State tonight.

Headed by Beulah Bondi and Victor Moore who play the roles of grandparents in the film, the cast includes Thomas Mitchell, Elisabeth Risdon, Minna Gombel and Ray Mayer as the scrappy middle-aged children; Fay Bainter and Porter Hall as a pair of in-laws with notions of their own as to what's to be done with aged in-laws; and Barbara Read, a granddaughter, whose conception of a good time brings her into conflict with the generations represented by her parents and grandparents.

William Gargan and Orin Hayward have the leading roles in "She Asked For It" which shows at the Grand tonight and Thursday with a second feature, "The Man Who Cried Wolf."

DAMASCUS, Oct. 13—The Junior class of Goshen Township High school will sponsor the Collins lecture course here this month and next.

The Hugo Brandt concert company, whose members are pictured above, will be heard in melody, song and story in the Goshen school auditorium Friday night.

Other features of the course will be the C. E. Jones electrical show on Oct. 22; Lon Johnson and company, novelty music, portraits and clay modeling on Oct. 29; and a comedy play, "The Mysterious Mr. Mason," on Nov. 5.

The immortal Franz Schubert will live again on the stage of Goshen High school auditorium Friday night when the Brandt company presents the interesting musical-drama built around the life and love of the famous composer.

The group is headed by Hugo Brandt, pianist and composer. James Burdette, baritone, takes the role of Schubert's friend, Joseph von Spaun. Miss Jean Justin, soprano, appears in the role of Sylvia, the young woman who furnished the inspiration for the beautiful song "Who Is Sylvia?"

The first portion of the program will be devoted to concert numbers by the pianist, soprano and tenor. A feature of this section will be the musical medley played by Brandt. It is said Brandt has one of the most remarkable memories of any musician in the concert world.

Market Is Swept By Selling Wave

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A selling wave swept the stock market today after an early rally and prices of leading shares dropped by from a few cents to $2 or more.
Brokers said the break caused considerable selling of accounts held on margin, accentuating the downward pressure. In the active opening many stocks were up by as much as $2, but the gains failed to hold.

EXTRA SESSION TO OPEN NOV. 15

Roosevelt Outlines Plan To Enact Sidetracked Program

There was no mention in Mr. Roosevelt's speech of his court reorganization program which upset the legislative machinery in the regular 1937 session. He apparently was referring to supreme court reversals, however, when he said the people had been "checked" in efforts to control production and secure wage-hour standards.

Although some members of congress said they saw no need for a special session, such administration leaders as Speaker Bankhead (D-Ala.) said the President had exercised "good judgment."

Chairman O'Connor (D-NY) of the house rules committee, which blocked the wage-hour bill in the last session, forecast it would be brought to the house floor swiftly. The crop control bill, however, will have the right-of-way under a resolution adopted in August.

There were indications that two other issues might create time-consuming debate during the session—the former Ku Klux Klan connections of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black and the President's foreign policy.

Seek War Solution
Mr. Roosevelt apparently sought in his speech to allay criticism of his newly aggressive policy toward Japanese invasion of China. He emphasized that American participation in the nine-power treaty conference would be to seek by agreement a solution of the conflict.

"And the kind of peace we want," he said, "is the sound and permanent kind, which is built on the co-operative search for peace by all the nations which want peace."

Discussing his call for the special session, the President said it would enable congress to avoid a lengthy session next year during the pre-election campaign. Ordinarily congress would not meet until January 3.

The President sat at a desk in an oval-shaped room in the White House. After the 30-minute speech, in which he spoke much more rapidly than usual, he received congratulations from two to three dozen guests, including Secretary Perkins and William Bullitt, United States ambassador to France.

Then Mr. Roosevelt left for a week's visit to his family home at Hyde Park, N. Y. He agreed to go to nearby Poughkeepsie today to lay the cornerstone of a new post-office.
In his White House speech, which reviewed his trip to the west coast, the President said that "for most of the country this has been a good year," but that "we have not yet done all that must be done to make this prosperity stable."

Emphasizing "Human Budget"
The people "out through the country," he said, "want the financial budget balanced, but they want the human budget balanced as well."

Then, speaking in broad terms, the President outlined his five legislative proposals for the special session.
Discussing crop control, he said: "The total amount of production largely determines the price of the crop, and, therefore, the difference between comfort and misery for the farmer."
"If we were foolish enough to run every shoe factory 24 hours a day, seven days a week, we would soon have more shoes than the nation could possibly buy—a surplus of shoes that would have to be destroyed, or given away, or sold at prices far below the cost of production. x x x

"You and I have heard big manufacturers talk about control of production by the farmer as an indefensible 'economy of scarcity.' And yet these same manufacturers never hesitate to shut down their own huge plants, throw men out of work, and cut down the purchasing power of whole communities whenever they think they must adjust their production to an oversupply of the goods they make."
"When it is their baby who has the measles, they call it not 'economy of scarcity' but 'sound business judgment.'"

Stresses Farm Program
"We intend this winter to find a way to prevent four and a half-cent cotton, nine cent corn and thirty cent wheat—with all the disaster those prices mean for all of us—from ever coming back again."
"To do that, the farmers themselves want to cooperate to build an all-weather farm program so that in the long run prices will be more stable. They believe this can be done, and the national budget kept out of the red. x x x

Discussing regional planning, the President described reforestation and reclamation projects visited on his western trip. He said all that work "needs a more business-like system of planning and greater foresight than we use today."

"That is why," the President added, "I recommended to the last session of the congress the creation of seven planning regions x x x the congress will, of course, determine the projects to be selected within the budget limits."

Turning to the wage and hour question, the President said: "American industry has searched the outside world to find new markets—but it can create on its very doorstep the biggest and most permanent market it has ever had."
"A few more dollars a week in wages, a better distribution of jobs with a shorter working day x x x will reduce the domestic trade barrier right here—right away—without waiting for any treaty.

"I am a firm believer in fully adequate pay for all labor. But right now I am most greatly concerned in increasing the pay of the lowest-paid labor."

Why you get
THE WORLD'S BEST TELEPHONE SERVICE
at Low Cost...

● The telephone business is relatively young, yet the ease, speed and clarity with which you can telephone thousands of miles over land and water already is an old story. Today, Ohio telephone service conforms to rigidly high standards, yet the rates are low. There's a reason for this. President Gifford of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company gave words to it in a speech at Dallas, Texas, 10 years ago this month... a fundamental policy of the Bell System.
"The fact that the responsibility for such a large part of the entire telephone service of the country rests solely upon the Bell System imposes on the management an unusual obligation to the public to see to it that the service shall at all times be adequate, dependable and satisfactory to the user," he said.
"The fact that ownership is so widespread and diffused also imposes an unusual obligation on the management to see to it that the savings of these hundreds of thousands of people are secure and remain so."
"Obviously the only sound policy that will meet these obligations is to continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety. This policy is bound to succeed in the long run and there is no justification for acting otherwise than for the long run."
This policy is the guiding star of every man and woman in the Bell System. Its observance through the years has given the United States the best telephone service in the world.

FORD Plans for the Future

Contracts have been awarded by the Ford Motor Co. for the largest blast furnace in the world. It will be the third iron-making unit in the River Rouge group and clearly indicates the confidence of Ford in his business outlook.

The new Ford furnace will have a capacity of more than 1,300 tons a day and will include several features entirely new to the blast furnace industry.

Ford also plans to rebuild three of his battery of ten open hearths, which will increase the steel capacity to around 9,000 tons a month or an 80% expansion.

A new tool and die plant is also planned for the Rouge layout which will serve the new press and body unit that will be started soon. All this points to Ford's intention of being self-contained. Ford Motor's River Rouge plant assembly line has started production on 1938 models. The plant has been down for three weeks during the changeover from 1937 models.

Jock Sutherland Thinks Pitt Panthers Have Yet To Reach Their '36 Form

Team Emerges From Duquesne Game In Fairly Good Shape; Daddio and Goldberg Both Nursing Slight Injuries This Week

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—Pitt came out of Duquesne game in fair shape and ready for Fordham. Coach Jock Sutherland was fairly well satisfied with play of team, but believes it has a long way to go to hit 1936 form.

Only Bill Daddio and Marshall Goldberg are nursing bruises that will keep them out of much practice this week, but Trainer Frank Altmar expects to have them ready by Saturday.

There wasn't a lot of talk about lineup changes, although Sutherland will be in character for season if he makes a few. So far he has made six shakeups in his starting lineup. However, the team that shook Goldberg loose for the winning run against the Dukes, and the team that punched to the one-yard line in the third quarter, is about due to get the nod as the official starting team.

This would have Daddio and Souchak, who got plenty of praise from the coaches for the best game of his career Saturday, at the ends; Matsis and Delich at the tackles; Lezowski and either Petro or Dalle Tezze at the guards; Hensley at center; Chickerna at quarterback; Goldberg and Stebbins at the halfbacks; and Staptus at fullback.

While Daddio is out, Souchak will take a turn at left end with Paul Shaw and Fabian Hoffman working on the right side of the line. The coaches are still backing Bob Danies at center. They feel that he will be a big help from now on in, after getting the first game "jitters" out of his system.

The Panthers are hoping for a dry field in New York. Without a bucking fullback of old-Pitt standards the Panthers depend upon a quick start this year, and the half dozen speedy Pitt backs find it hard to get going in the wet.

The exodus to New York is scheduled for Thursday night. The team will be quartered at the Westchester Country club at Eye, and will not arrive at the scene of the battle until shortly before game-time.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — Johnny (Dropkick) Murphy, 190, Boston, defeated Mark Hosely, 203, Ohio, two of three falls.

Grid Stalwarts Who Are Attempting To Place Salem Among State Scholastic Football Leaders

The hopes of Salem High school to again find a place with the state's leading scholastic football teams after five years of mediocrity rest mainly with the 24 grid stalwarts pictured here.

The Quakers have played three games thus far in their nine-game 1937 football campaign, winning one, tying one and losing one. They defeated Sebring, 14-6, in the opener, tied Ravenna, 13-13, in the second game and dropped a heart-breaker to East Liverpool, 19-13, in the third game.

They play at Struthers Friday night in their fourth game of the season.

Here's a thumbnail sketch of each of the members of the varsity squad:

LEONARD BONSALE—One of the newcomers to the squad this year, Bonsale is a senior, weighing 176 pounds. He transferred to Salem from Greenford and had no previous football experience when he reported for practice this fall. He has started at right tackle in the Quakers' three games to date, showing constant improvement in each game.

MIKE GUAPPONE—More commonly known as "Cupcake," because he once ate 11 of the delicacies at one sitting, Mike is a second team guard and substitute for Bob Kirchgesner. Mike is as tough as they come and likes nothing better than to smear opposing backs with a hard tackle. "The bigger they come, the harder they fall," is Mike's motto. He is a junior and tips the scales at 165 pounds.

CLARENCE WOERTHER—Rising from the third team ranks this season, Woerther gained a second string backfield berth and stuck with it. He looks like a good bet for next year's team, weighing 163 pounds and possessing capable line plugging ability. He is a junior.

BOB MINAMYER—The player who received his big "break" this season, Bob is the first team right end. He played as a reserve for three years before breaking into the varsity lineup. He saw some service as a substitute back last season, but didn't get his big chance until this year when he was made into an end to take the place of Julius Nestor, who suffered a broken arm in the Sebring game. Bob is a conscientious player, putting his utmost in every play. He is a senior and weighs 170 pounds.

STUART WISE—One of the shiftiest of the Quaker backs, Wise is a junior, weighing 150 pounds. He lacked one quarter of receiving a varsity letter last year and has broken into the lineup at quarterback in two of the three games this season. Wise is at present the general utility back, capable of playing any position.

DICK JONES—Another of those unsung heroes, Dick is the reserve center, but seldom gets into action because Mike Cerbu, first team snapperbacker, is seldom out of action. Dick tips the scales at 162 pounds and is a senior.

Son of Former Star
CHARLES SCHAEFFER—The son of a former Salem High school football player, E. J. ("Monk") Schaeffer, Charles missed the early part of practice this season because of ill health, but is now out working hard for a tackle or end berth. He played both of these positions last year and won a reserve letter. A junior in school, he weighs about 135 pounds.

RICHARD BECK—With 180 pounds to back him up, Beck is one of the up and coming Quaker linemen. He is only a sophomore and already has had one year of reserve service. He is a tackle, and with another year of experience under his belt should be one of the toughest players in the forward wall.

MAX LUTSCH—"Der Moxie" did not report for football until this year, much to the regret of the Quaker coaching staff. As the first team fullback, he has shown plenty of drive and power and undoubtedly stands a chance of "going places" if he continues his football in college. Standing six-feet three-inches, Max weighs 182 pounds and moves from fullback on offense to end on defense. This is his first and last year of playing for the Quakers, since he is a senior and will get his diploma next spring.

BUD DEAN—Coming to Salem from Cleveland Collingwood, where he had gained football experience, Bud stepped into the first team quarterback job in his first year. He is a hard player, a good blocker and does the signal-barking on the field. He weighs 155 pounds and is a junior.

BOB SANDERS—A senior, weighing 166 pounds, Bob is the leading end replacement. He gained considerable experience at a wing post last season and has seen action as a sub in all three games this year.

Hard Luck Player
JULIUS NESTOR—The "hard luck" member of the squad, Julius suffered a broken arm in the first game of the season and will probably be lost for the remainder of the year. His injury cost the Quakers the services of one of their most aggressive and reliable ends. Nestor has been out watching practice practically every night, even if he can't take part in the workouts. He is a senior and will be unable to play next year.

HAROLD FITZSIMMONS—Tipping the scales at 196 pounds, Fitzsimmons is the heaviest player on the first team. He is the left tackle and another of the strong points in the Quakers' line. A junior this season, he gained considerable experience as a reserve last year.

BILL MALLOY—Blocking is the main assignment for Malloy, who plays at the right halfback position and rarely carries the ball. He

He hasn't as yet been able to work up to a first string berth, but his speed and blocking ability will undoubtedly earn him a regular's job before he receives his diploma. . . LLOYD WALKER—Reliable is the word for Walker, who has been plugging along as a reserve for four years and is one of the unsung heroes of the squad. He is a second string guard, tipping the scales at 170. Walker has never yet received a starting assignment, but he's still out there plugging, helping to make the first string players rougher and tougher. . . MIKE CERBU—"The pepper pot" of the squad, Mike is the first team center, the originator of all the "wisecracks" and a whole team in himself in backing up the Quaker line on defense. A letterman from last year when he played both center and end, Mike is hard as nails and has been appropriately nicknamed "Scrap Iron." He weighs 155 pounds and is the lightest player on the Quakers' line. . . CHARLES WENTZ—A fullback last year, Wentz was transferred to a guard this season and has shown up well in this position. He has plenty of drive and blocks and tackles hard. He is another of the squad's six lettermen, weighing 163 pounds and is president of the senior class.

LEONARD BONSALE—One of the newcomers to the squad this year, Bonsale is a senior, weighing 176 pounds. He transferred to Salem from Greenford and had no previous football experience when he reported for practice this fall. He has started at right tackle in the Quakers' three games to date, showing constant improvement in each game.

MIKE GUAPPONE—More commonly known as "Cupcake," because he once ate 11 of the delicacies at one sitting, Mike is a second team guard and substitute for Bob Kirchgesner. Mike is as tough as they come and likes nothing better than to smear opposing backs with a hard tackle. "The bigger they come, the harder they fall," is Mike's motto. He is a junior and tips the scales at 165 pounds.

CLARENCE WOERTHER—Rising from the third team ranks this season, Woerther gained a second string backfield berth and stuck with it. He looks like a good bet for next year's team, weighing 163 pounds and possessing capable line plugging ability. He is a junior.

BOB MINAMYER—The player who received his big "break" this season, Bob is the first team right end. He played as a reserve for three years before breaking into the varsity lineup. He saw some service as a substitute back last season, but didn't get his big chance until this year when he was made into an end to take the place of Julius Nestor, who suffered a broken arm in the Sebring game. Bob is a conscientious player, putting his utmost in every play. He is a senior and weighs 170 pounds.

STUART WISE—One of the shiftiest of the Quaker backs, Wise is a junior, weighing 150 pounds. He lacked one quarter of receiving a varsity letter last year and has broken into the lineup at quarterback in two of the three games this season. Wise is at present the general utility back, capable of playing any position.

DICK JONES—Another of those unsung heroes, Dick is the reserve center, but seldom gets into action because Mike Cerbu, first team snapperbacker, is seldom out of action. Dick tips the scales at 162 pounds and is a senior.

Son of Former Star
CHARLES SCHAEFFER—The son of a former Salem High school football player, E. J. ("Monk") Schaeffer, Charles missed the early part of practice this season because of ill health, but is now out working hard for a tackle or end berth. He played both of these positions last year and won a reserve letter. A junior in school, he weighs about 135 pounds.

RICHARD BECK—With 180 pounds to back him up, Beck is one of the up and coming Quaker linemen. He is only a sophomore and already has had one year of reserve service. He is a tackle, and with another year of experience under his belt should be one of the toughest players in the forward wall.

MAX LUTSCH—"Der Moxie" did not report for football until this year, much to the regret of the Quaker coaching staff. As the first team fullback, he has shown plenty of drive and power and undoubtedly stands a chance of "going places" if he continues his football in college. Standing six-feet three-inches, Max weighs 182 pounds and moves from fullback on offense to end on defense. This is his first and last year of playing for the Quakers, since he is a senior and will get his diploma next spring.

BUD DEAN—Coming to Salem from Cleveland Collingwood, where he had gained football experience, Bud stepped into the first team quarterback job in his first year. He is a hard player, a good blocker and does the signal-barking on the field. He weighs 155 pounds and is a junior.

BOB SANDERS—A senior, weighing 166 pounds, Bob is the leading end replacement. He gained considerable experience at a wing post last season and has seen action as a sub in all three games this year.

Hard Luck Player
JULIUS NESTOR—The "hard luck" member of the squad, Julius suffered a broken arm in the first game of the season and will probably be lost for the remainder of the year. His injury cost the Quakers the services of one of their most aggressive and reliable ends. Nestor has been out watching practice practically every night, even if he can't take part in the workouts. He is a senior and will be unable to play next year.

HAROLD FITZSIMMONS—Tipping the scales at 196 pounds, Fitzsimmons is the heaviest player on the first team. He is the left tackle and another of the strong points in the Quakers' line. A junior this season, he gained considerable experience as a reserve last year.

BILL MALLOY—Blocking is the main assignment for Malloy, who plays at the right halfback position and rarely carries the ball. He

Here and There -- About Town

Name On Memorial

Photographs of the memorial flag of the Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police, which bears the name of T. W. Thompson, former Salem police chief, were received today by Chief Ralph Stoffer and given to Mrs. Thompson and son Russell. The name of the late department head, who died in a traffic accident March 13, 1934, is inscribed at the top of the flag which is kept by the chiefs' association. The photographs were forwarded by T. B. Miller, secretary of the group.

One photograph is hung on the wall at police headquarters. Chief of Police Ralph Stoffer returned to his desk this morning after an absence of 11 days, during which time he was in New York City attempting to have Harry Schwartz extradited to this county to face a bad check charge. Schwartz, however, succeeded in making restitution and the chief returned with the cash for the fraudulent check, instead.

Chief Again at Desk

Chief of Police Ralph Stoffer returned to his desk this morning after an absence of 11 days, during which time he was in New York City attempting to have Harry Schwartz extradited to this county to face a bad check charge. Schwartz, however, succeeded in making restitution and the chief returned with the cash for the fraudulent check, instead.

Will Tour Tennessee

LEETONIA M. E. FETE SUNDAY

Plans Completed For Church's Semi-Centennial Celebration

LEETONIA, Oct. 13.—Plans are complete for the Semi-centennial celebration of the Methodist church Sunday.

Following the Rally day services in Sunday school, Dr. Stanley Smith, district superintendent of Youngstown district and son of Rev. J. C. Smith, former pastor, will preach at the morning service.

A get-together dinner in the parish house at noon provides a chance to visit with old friends. The main celebration program will be held at 4 p. m.

Five of the early pastors of the church will visit their old charge. Each organization will give a short history of the work and plans. Included in the program will be special music by the Fairfield school chorus, the music and vocal music by Mrs. Edith Wagenhouser Davis of Salem and Mrs. L. E. Fisher and C. G. Hart.

DEATHS

ALFRED G. HOFUS

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 13.—Alfred G. Hofus, 82, retired carpenter, died suddenly at 3 p. m. Tuesday at his home in Columbiana following a heart attack.

Mr. Hofus came to Columbiana 60 years ago from Mercer county, Pa., where he was born Feb. 12, 1855. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hofus.

He was married in Columbiana March 23, 1882, to Mary Stuckman who survives. He was a member of the Methodist church here.

Also surviving is one brother, Daniel Hofus of Youngstown. Two brothers and one sister died some years ago.

Funeral service will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday at the home in charge of Rev. Robinson of Columbiana. Burial will be in the Columbiana mausoleum.

In New School

SEBRING, Oct. 12.—Ohio Avenue school passed out of the picture as a building for regular school purposes Monday when classes were started in the new McKinley addition.

School officials plan for the future of the Ohio building are definite.
